

What is ARDS?

Acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) is an acute, life threatening condition that results in severe loss of lung function due to accumulation of fluid in the air sacs which leads to low blood oxygen levels

DID YOU KNOW...

That over 150,000 men, woman and children are diagnosed with ARDS each year?

That half of those diagnosed will pass away?

That more people die from ARDS than from breast cancer?

That more people die from ARDS than from AIDS in the United States?

HOW DOES THE FOUNDATION HELP?

ARDS Foundation is a national, not for profit organization staffed by volunteers who have been personally affected by ARDS. ARDS Foundation offers information and support, works to promote awareness and education, and contributes funding for medical research.
